

Physical Security and Safety

Willis Towers Watson (WTW) is committed to providing a safe and secure work environment to protect our assets – including colleagues and visitors.

WTW's global Physical Security program is designed to safeguard our colleagues and other assets, mitigate risks, prevent reasonably foreseeable security incidents, enable an effective response to known threats, and contribute to the sustainability of the organization. Our global Physical Security policies and standards provide the tools, resources, process management, and governance necessary to ensure program compliance and effectiveness. Our asset protection approach imparts balance in managing risk while supporting WTW's business objectives and operations.

Objectives, planning, and management

The global Physical Security program provides the framework under which we establish, implement, and maintain physical security measures and protect our assets.

The global Physical Security team, led by the Global Director of Safety and Security, supports regional business partners by providing guidance, coordinating activities, managing security systems, and capturing data for strategic planning and program evaluation. Facilities Services and leadership teams have the resources to ensure local procedures and plans reflect safe and secure business needs. Established partnerships with Human Resources, Legal, Facilities Services, Business Continuity, Safety, Information Technology, and Incident Management Teams provide for a coordinated response to incidents that threaten or might potentially disrupt business operations or impact our colleagues or other assets. Additionally, WTW actively enables our colleagues' commitment and awareness to maintain a safe and secure environment. Our global Physical Security program integrates the contributions of colleagues, internal and external partners, procedures, technologies and equipment to effectively execute a comprehensive asset protection plan. Regular risk reviews are conducted to identify risks to each workplace and facility by leveraging a proprietary process consistent with published security industry guidelines and industry practices. The risk review process assists in identifying appropriate internal and external facility physical security measures which may include alarm systems, video surveillance, security officers, access controls, and restricted access to sensitive areas and/or information needed to adhere to WTW's physical security objectives. Local legislative, regulatory, and client requirements are also considered in local physical security plans. Implementation and maintenance of security measures are supported by the global Physical Security policies, standards, procedures, and team.
